JANESVILLE SATURDAY, JUNE 7.

THE GLORY OF OUR REVENUE SYSTEM.

In the discussion of the question of revenue in connection with the tariff system, one must not forget the eloquent figures concerning the resources and integrity of this country. There is a marvelousness about the way in which this country is getting on in the world. There is a wonder in its progress, in its educational advancement, in its debt-paying power, and in the development of its resources.

The fourth of July is coming, and instead of stretching the old eagle from Maine to California until it writes in pain, it would be a good thing for orators to preach a little on the eloquence of figures—the fashion this great country has of paying its debts. Here is what the United States has done in the past twenty-five years in discharging its obligations:

	Principal.	Interest.
August 31st 1865	$2,750,000,000	$151,822,000
1869	2,255,463,200	120,428,200
1873	2,088,781,142	94,406,645
1877	1,799,649,497	67,555,997
1881	1,465,931,280	47,083,759
1885	895,166,120	41,078,610
1889	295,225,720	20,000,000

Has any other country on earth done as well as this? No. None have anything like approached it. Europe, with five times our population, and four times our wealth, had increased its national debt, over eight billions of dollars in twenty years. England still owes over three and a half billions, and all her revenue of 449 millions of dollars annually is exhausted in governmental expenditure. Russia has a debt of nearly four billions and barely a dollar of the 694 million of revenue for 1889 was saved.

It pays to preach this kind of an economic gospel. It is a lesson of liberty which bears repeating every year. It shows how amazing have been the industrial strides, and how enlightened has become the sentiment of the nation, in the past quarter of a century.

APPEALING TO THEIR MANHOOD.

The Chicago Herald believes in the English language. It believes in American patriotism. It believes that parents should educate their children as best they can. It believes in compelling those parents who willfully neglect to send their children to school, to do their duty in regard to their education. It believes in the common school system of the United States. It believes in Americanizing all children of foreign born parents that they may become useful to themselves and a benefit to the state. It believes in the democratic party.

These facts make it evident that the Herald is entitled to speak on the subject of the educational law, and also to give the democracy of Wisconsin some advice as to its course in regard to the law. Therefore the Herald takes occasion to remark that "it must respect its warning to the democrats of Wisconsin in terms even more vigorous than those that have been used heretofore. They should resolutely repudiate the dangerous and destructive dogma that there is power in the state that above the state, and they should speak with relation to public education in tones so clear that there may be no misapprehension."

Then, on another point, the Herald remarks: "The Lutherans and German Catholics of Wisconsin have no real grievance. They are not persecuted. They are not oppressed. The Bennett law is a wise and beneficent measure. The attacks that have been made upon it have been dishonest."

Concluding, the Herald forewarns the democrats in these words: "Based as this anti-Bennett law movement is upon false pretense, it certainly must fail, and the democratic party should not be permitted to fail with it. The most that any reasonable person can ask is that the law be amended in one or two unimportant particulars. If the democrats of Wisconsin go beyond this it will go blundering to mental defeat."

They say Tanner is growing wealthy. The veterans are giving him of their scanty substance something like $100,000 a year. He pretends to attend to their business the same as a walking delegate does to the business of the laboring men in large cities, and is happy in his rapidly growing possessions. It was a good thing for the government as well as for Tanner, that he went into the private pension business. Had he remained in the pension office much longer, the treasury would have been compelled to go on crutches. But the change is to the detriment of a lot of poor fellows who are contributing to the wealth of the corporal.

They had a little disturbance in the postoffice in St. Louis a day or two ago. One of the clerks in the money order department took a vacation and among the "reserve corps" was a negro who had passed an examination by the civil service board, who was entitled to fill the vacancy. The postmaster properly gave him the appointment, when one of the clerks named Knapp, thought himself insulted and humiliated, and resigned. Mr. Knapp seems to belong to that peculiar class of men who think they are of so much importance that their services in any capacity will be missed; but the St. Louis postoffice still exists, and the mail is landed just as though nothing had happened.

Justice has got a firm hold on ex-Sheriff Flack, of New York. He made an effort to secure a divorce from his wife because she was sickly, and induced his son, William, to lead him a helping hand in the business by swearing false testimony. It was cold-blooded

SOME VERY BAD INDIANS.

A Party of Cheyenne Indians on the Tongue River Agency Want to Leave the Reservation.

MONTANA SETTLERS FEAR AN INDIAN UPRISING.

The Indians on the Keshena Reservation, Wis. Likely to Cause Trouble—Bloodshed May Follow.

FORT KNOX, MONT., June 7.—Alarming reports are brought here from the Tongue River Agency. The Northern Cheyennes have been plotting against agency officials and settlers for the last two years, and recently have added to the excitement by attempting to leave the reservation in considerable bands to meet the new Messiah, who, it was stated, would appear on the reservation after the Indians had been checked by troops from carrying out their plans. They became greatly enraged and openly threatened to murder all who opposed them. They purchased firearms wherever they could obtain them, and a few nights since assassinated Henry S. Ferguson, a leading stock grower, near the agency. Being apprehensive of arrest, the reds have banded together and literally sleep on their firearms. Settlers in the vicinity of the agency are almost wholly without protection, and many of them have abandoned their homes and fled to Miles City and other neighboring towns.

The feeling against the whites has been bitter ever since Seward's arrest and five of his followers were killed in a fight with the regulars three years ago and settlers have petitioned to have the Cheyennes removed to the Indian Territory. Two companies of cavalry are in readiness to move on receipt of orders from Gen. Rucker at St. Paul, in command of the Department of Dakota. Near the scene of the Custer massacre four men were killed by the Indians a few days ago.

BAD INDIANS IN WISCONSIN.

They are causing trouble on the Keshena Reservation. SHAWANO, Wis., June 9.—The trouble on the Keshena Indian Reservation, originally precipitated by the change of agents, has reached such a point that a meeting of armed forces of the government on the one hand and the Indians on the other. While reports sent out from this city have been greatly exaggerated, the facts are of sufficient importance to cause the gravest apprehension for the safety of those whose business keeps them on the reservation. Yesterday the feast of Corpus Christi was celebrated, and in consequence the Indians assembled at Keshena in large numbers to attend the church. At the conclusion of the services the women withdrew and the backs, priests and ex-Agent Jennings held a conference. As a result Jennings went back to the reservation.

Agent Kelsey, the newly appointed Indian agent, who, with Inspector Chisney, was compelled to leave the reservation yesterday night, returned here last evening, while ex-Agent Jennings held the fort at Keshena, having been there yesterday. There is no doubt that had Agent Kelsey left the reservation when he did he would have suffered at the hands of the reds, as the Indians were under the influence of whiskey and were greatly excited.

Wednesday evening Mr. Savage, at whose place the new agent was boarding, came to Mr. Kelsey and told him he could not keep him any longer, as the Indians would come that night and tear his house down if he did. Notwithstanding the fact that it was raining heavily Agent Kelsey was forced to procure a team and drive to Shawano that night in a blinding storm. That same afternoon one of the priests and Inspector Chisney and told him he better leave the reservation if he wished to avoid trouble and liability of being injured. It is reported that a conspiracy exists to eject Agent Kelsey and all Government officials bodily from the reservation. The ringleaders to the number of seven are said to be carrying into execution the will of the priests. It is given out that troops will be ordered here from Fort Snelling. It is most difficult to arrive at a logical conclusion as to the cause of the uprising. Without question, Jennings is popular with the Indians, but whether or not he has directly excited them in this defiance of government authority is merely a matter of conjecture. Lumber men of this city attribute this trouble to a measure to the fact that the Indians are laboring under the hallucination that a change of agents means that they will eventually lose all their lands and money and that the change is made for the express purpose of benefiting a few rich lumbermen in the State who are trying to secure their place. An effort will be made to have several Wisconsin lumbermen visit them and largely with the Indians visit them and attempt to show them their folly in resisting the change of agents. However, many are of the opinion that blood will be shed before the Indians can be brought to a proper realization of the situation.

WAS NOT A BURGLAR.

A Missouri Boy Fatally Wounds His Brother by Mistake. JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 7.—At the residence of John Bright, near town, late yesterday evening, Edward Bright, a lad of 13, shot and probably fatally wounded his brother Harry, aged 19, under the impression that he was a burglar. Hearing footsteps ascending the stairs, Edward seized a rifle and, going into the hall, fired, with the above result.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., June 7.—Superintendent of Police Eastman has issued orders suppressing the further sale of Louisiana lottery tickets in Grand Rapids. Dealers and saloon men express their perfect willingness to comply with the order but will ask for permission to be allowed to dispose of tickets on hand.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be placed to the taste and to the eye easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

The General Outlook for Business Continues Encouraging.

NEW YORK, June 7.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: All indications regarding legitimate business continue encouraging. The reports from other cities are, almost without exception, favorable. Boston notes not much change. Westerns are quiet but firm. Cotton goods hold the late advance, and lumber is firm with good business.

Chicago notes increases in movements of all grains and most other trade in dry goods, and fairly good in boots and shoes, with good payments in all. St. Louis finds the situation generally favorable, with bank clearings exceeding all past records. At Milwaukee, St. Paul, Kansas City and Omaha the improvement in crop prospects stimulates trade.

The great industries show clearly the general tendency toward improvement. In iron weakness appears nowhere, while an advance in many quotations is reported. The speculative markets are especially strong, though cotton has fallen over three-eighths and pork products are a shade lower. Oil has declined 2-3c, with small transactions, but wheat has risen 1-1/2c in spite of great improvement in the prospect. Corn has advanced 1-1/2c and oats 1-3/4c. The money market has been favorable, the treasury having taken in $1,100,000 more than it paid out.

The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days number 205, as compared with a total of 218 last week. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 225.

MISS BENNET SHOTS HERSELF.

A Disappointed School-Teacher Probably Fatally Wounded.

EMERSON, Kas., June 7.—Ida D. Bennett shot herself last night at the residence of D. H. Stone, where she was rooming. Miss Bennett was the teacher in the Art department of the Presbyterian college last year and failed of reappointment. She claims that the revolver was accidentally discharged while she was packing her trunk, preparatory to a trip to Chicago, but it is generally thought that the act was intentional. The doctors say she cannot live, the ball having entered the left breast near the heart. Her parents live in Goldwater, Mich., and it is said that she has a brother living in Chicago. On being asked where the revolver was she said it was in the trunk, but afterwards it was found in a bureau drawer.

We Nailed Our Board.

Our "lucky" board, up on another house this morning, removing it from a place just sold yesterday to its new location, 254 South Franklin street. This is the third place this same board has been on since May 1st, and the others are sold and paid for. This one is the best place for the money asked that this board has ever occupied. It won't be in the market long.

Yours very truly,

A little paper called THE HOME? Ha! Ha! Ha! also Ho! Ho! Ho! and likewise He! He! He! Isn't it FUNNY?

Yours very truly,

GEO. L. & SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

While in the 4th Ward.

Let us just mention the HANCHETT PLACE 251 South Jackson street. This is by long odds the choicest piece of property offered for sale in this ward. At Mr. Hanchett's asking price it ought to be bought for either home or speculation. We can suggest a way whereby you can get a very cheap and desirable home and get a good sum of money back from your first cost.

Yours very truly,

GEO. L. & SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

A Big Girl.

Called Polly Tickle had a younger brother and when the young fellow died anything bad or that she thought bad, she used to shake her bony finger at him and say, "HOW LITTLE YOU ARE." Isn't it funny?

Yours very truly,

GEO. L. & SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

Then Again.

That desirable home of Mr. Hotelling, 101 Cherry street, we offer at a bargain. You couldn't find a place in the ward to beat it at the price. Ask us about it.

Yours very truly,

GEO. L. & SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

And The Little Fellow.

Never meant to be bad, but he was quite a different chap from Oliver Twist, and he didn't go off and cry nor crawl into a hole and pull the hole after him, but kept a stiff upper lip and said he was willing to be a good little fellow. Isn't it FUNNY?

Yours very truly,

GEO. L. & SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

Jumping into the Second.

We want to about a little about that Sixe home, 114 4th Avenue. It is desirable. It is cheap. Mr. Sixe wants his money. We want to sell for him quick. Grab it as it goes.

Yours very truly,

GEO. L. & SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

But the Little Fellow.

Don't know whether his sister wants to "jump on" or not. He hopes not, for when such big people smash the little ones there is hardly ever anything left of them. Isn't it FUNNY.

Yours very truly,

GEO. L. & SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

SILVER AND THE TARIFF.

MR. PLUMB IN THE SENATE DISCUSSES THEIR RELATION.

He Says the McKinley Bill Will Destroy Our Foreign Commerce—Other Washington News.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—In the Senate Mr. Plumb moved to reconsider the vote by which the Senate passed yesterday a bill authorizing the construction of a railroad bridge across the Columbia river, near Vancouver. The motion was entered. A new conference was ordered on the dependent pension bill. The Silver bill was taken up, and Mr. Plumb addressed the Senate. He believed it was the all but unanimous opinion of the people of the United States that a considerable increase in the amount of the currency was necessary, and he was reinforced in that belief by the investigation which he had made of the subject.

He declared that the circulation today was $240,000,000 less than the framers of the financial legislation of 1875 anticipated, although the commercial business of the country had doubled within that time. The total amount of money which the people of the United States had for the transaction of their daily business could not exceed $600,000,000. He believed it was less than $300,000,000, and that upon that narrow foundation had been built an enormous structure of credit, propped up here and there by devices of various kinds, and kept swelling and growing while the base on which it rested did not grow in proportion to the structure. The Senator from New York (Mr. Hiseock) had yesterday described the great wealth and prosperity of the country, but, if his pictures were true, why was it, Mr. Plumb asked, that that Senator and his committee, the finance committee, were "galling up" the Silver bill in connection with the question of protection. The Senate had been appealed to yesterday by the Senator from New York (Mr. Hiseock) against the bill in the sacred name of protection. He would not call it a fetch, although he did not know what he would call it before he got through, but in its name the Senate was asked to keep Silver out of the country. Silver was an American product—a much larger product than many others which were to be protected by duties of 200 to 300 per cent. under the tariff bill.

He would like to ask the Senator from New York, who was so anxious about foreign commerce, what he intended to do with the tariff bill, which would prevent the United States from having any foreign commerce. He hoped that he might interpret the Senator's remarks on that point as a hopeful augury of the action of that Senator in putting his knife into the bill now before the finance committee—a bill which would raise the prices of nearly everything used by the masses of the people.

The silver bill was laid aside. The message from the President in relation to the landing of an armed force from the revenue cutter Melane at Cedar Key, Fla., was presented, read, and referred to the Judiciary committee.

Mr. Dawes from the committee on Indian affairs, reported a resolution (which was agreed to) calling on the Secretary of the Interior for copies of communications and correspondence on the subject of intruders on the Indian Territory, and for a report as to what steps have been taken to fulfill the treaty obligations with the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations in regard to preventing such intrusions.

After an executive session the Senate adjourned.

The Debate in the House.
WASHINGTON, June 7.—The silver debate was resumed. Mr. Lind (Minn.) being the first speaker.

He represented, he said, an agricultural district, the farmers of which were not poor but not wholly prosperous. The depressed condition was due to the low prices of agricultural products. He believed that the farmers were affected by the amount of money in circulation. The increase of circulation advanced prices and a shrinkage of circulation diminished them. The increase in the purchasing value of gold was due to the fact that its product was decreasing while its use in the arts was increasing. If silver had been allowed to remain in its place a money brought out the world it would have advanced in purchasing power. Silver should be restored to its former position. This was demanded by the great masses of the American people. It was no argument to say that the people did not understand the question. They did. The people could think and reason as well as a member of Congress. The judgment of the popular mind, like woman's reasoning, was generally right.

Commencing on the three measures before the House, he said that the treasury bill was the most objectionable. Under a friendly secretary it might be made useful in increasing the volume of currency, but under an unfriendly secretary it might be dangerous. Personally he believed that the free-coinage bill presented not only the best but the quickest way to settle the whole question.

He believed that it was best to yield something even to prejudice, if by so doing legislation almost equally efficacious and less objectionable to some classes could be secured. Such a measure was the Republican currency bill.

Mr. Lacey of Iowa said that the country was met with a contraction of the currency. The banks were calling in circulation. It might be that figures would show as much money in the United States per capita as there ever had been, but there was an absolute shortage of funds. The pending bill proposed to give the country a new increase to offset the contraction, and even more. It was practically a free-coinage bill. The capacity of the mints was $100,000,000. The output of the mints was $100,000,000. The free coinage of every dollar of American silver would be $100,000,000, yet this bill proposed to give $100,000,000 a year of legal tender Treasury notes. It was a free-coinage measure, because it provided that when silver was at par the mints should be open to free coinage. The country needed an expansion of the currency in a safe way, and the bill provided for it.

Mr. Walker, of Massachusetts, spoke against free coinage. He asserted that the demonetization of silver was not the cause of a decrease of prices. Prices had been going down for a hundred years. The demonetization of silver had not had the slightest appreciable effect on the depreciation of prices. More money meant more misery.

Mr. Townsend, of Colorado, said that the departure from a bimetallic standard had been the cause of untold misery to the wage-workers, and had benefited only those in the enjoyment of fixed incomes payable in gold. Prosperity would not return and the downward course of prices would not be arrested until silver was returned to its proper place.

Mr. Dorsey of Nebraska said that if Secretary Windom had purchased and coined the maximum amount of silver allowed under existing laws there would have been no need of this discussion and he would have strengthened the administration of President Harrison. To that section of the substitute which provided for bullion redemption he emphatically objected. There was no need for such a section, for if the silver bullion was in the treasury and could be sold for the gold coin necessary to redeem the notes

THE SENATE IS SILENT.

Far Behind the House in Important Legislation.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Heretofore the Senate has been in advance of the House in the necessary work of the session at this period. This year, however, the Senate has fallen to the rear, particularly with reference to the general appropriation bills, of which the Senate has passed only one, and of these five two still remain in the hands of the finance committee. The legislative executive, and judicial bills, which is the most important of the money bills, was passed by the House six weeks ago. The consular and diplomatic bills were passed four weeks ago, and the fortifications bill was passed five weeks ago, yet neither of these measures has been acted upon by the Senate. In addition to those named, the river and harbor bill was given to the Senate last week, so that there are now in the possession of the committees of that body four general appropriation bills, of the revenue bills of this character the postoffice, agricultural, Indian, sundry civil, and general deficiency are yet to be reported to the House.

The three measures first named are in charge of the postoffice, agricultural, and Indian committees respectively, and the sundry civil, and general deficiency bills are in charge of the committee on appropriations.

PLANS OF THE SILVER MEN.

Proposed Combination of Bi-Metallicists to Show the Present Bill Fault.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The executive committee of the St. Louis National Silver convention is now in session at Washington watching the progress of Silver legislation. Apprehensive that a satisfactory measure may be defeated by combinations of gold mono-metallicists, it has determined, in that event, to call another national silver convention, in which the Farmers' Alliance and all other industrial organizations will be invited to join with bi-metallicists everywhere with a view to sinking politics and making the silver question the controlling issue in future campaigns, especially in the congressional districts in the next election, and advising that nobody be supported for Congress or the Presidency who is not in favor of the full restoration of silver to its place as a money metal as it was before the act of 1873. The committee regards any measure for bullion redemption as worse than no legislation at all.

New York, June 7.—The Supreme Court (general term) has affirmed the conviction and sentence of ex-Sheriff Flack.

The Change of Life.

Is the most important crisis of woman's life. It occurs usually between forty and fifty years of age. The woman who passes it in safety will in all probability live many years, enjoying the best health of her life. The slightest neglect or mismanagement means untold wretchedness the rest of her days. Pe-r-u-na is the favorite remedy in these cases, as it not only palliates the disagreeable symptoms during the trying crisis, but guards the system from the many chronic ailments which are liable to develop. Pe-r-u-na promptly relieves the nervousness, sleeplessness, throbbing, headache, rash of blood to the head, palpitation, indigestion, painful menstruation, leucorrhea, and faint spells, from which most of these patients suffer. It acts as a preventive against dropsy, heart disease, enlargement of the liver, and kidney diseases, which are so frequently acquired at this time. No one passing through this unavoidable epoch ought to be without Pe-r-u-na, for it is in every particular adapted to the different phases of it, and contains no opium or other narcotic. An instructive lecture to women in this condition by Dr. S. B. Hartman sent free by the Peruna Medicine Company of Columbus, Ohio.

The Preventive of a Terrible Disease.

No disorder, excepting the most deadly, can arise from a weak or diseased system. A weak or diseased system is the cause of all the troubles which fasten upon the kidneys. Such maladies, when they become chronic, and are not able to assume that character, completely wreck the system. To prevent this terrible disease, recourse should be had, upon the first manifestation of trouble, to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which experts have proved to be highly effective as a means of imparting tone and vigor to the organs of nutrition, as well as to the liver, stomach, and bowels. Another beneficial result of this medicine, naturally consequent upon its diuretic action, is the elimination from the blood of impurities which beget rheumatism, neuralgia, gout, dropsy and other maladies. By increasing the activity of the kidneys, it augments the purgative efficiency of the organs, which are most important outlets for the escape of such impurities.

THE SENATE IS SILENT.

Far Behind the House in Important Legislation.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Heretofore the Senate has been in advance of the House in the necessary work of the session at this period. This year, however, the Senate has fallen to the rear, particularly with reference to the general appropriation bills, of which the Senate has passed only one, and of these five two still remain in the hands of the finance committee. The legislative executive, and judicial bills, which is the most important of the money bills, was passed by the House six weeks ago. The consular and diplomatic bills were passed four weeks ago, and the fortifications bill was passed five weeks ago, yet neither of these measures has been acted upon by the Senate. In addition to those named, the river and harbor bill was given to the Senate last week, so that there are now in the possession of the committees of that body four general appropriation bills, of the revenue bills of this character the postoffice, agricultural, Indian, sundry civil, and general deficiency are yet to be reported to the House.

The three measures first named are in charge of the postoffice, agricultural, and Indian committees respectively, and the sundry civil, and general deficiency bills are in charge of the committee on appropriations.

PLANS OF THE SILVER MEN.

Proposed Combination of Bi-Metallicists to Show the Present Bill Fault.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The executive committee of the St. Louis National Silver convention is now in session at Washington watching the progress of Silver legislation. Apprehensive that a satisfactory measure may be defeated by combinations of gold mono-metallicists, it has determined, in that event, to call another national silver convention, in which the Farmers' Alliance and all other industrial organizations will be invited to join with bi-metallicists everywhere with a view to sinking politics and making the silver question the controlling issue in future campaigns, especially in the congressional districts in the next election, and advising that nobody be supported for Congress or the Presidency who is not in favor of the full restoration of silver to its place as a money metal as it was before the act of 1873. The committee regards any measure for bullion redemption as worse than no legislation at all.

AT GRAY STREAK OF DAWN.

Convention of Catholic Foresters Adjourns After Electing Officers.

CHICAGO, June 7.—At daylight this morning the convention of the Catholic Order of Foresters, brought to a close. The night session was taken up entirely with the election of officers. Almost every delegate had a nominating speech to make. P. J. Cahill, of Chicago, was elected high chief ranger by a large majority. John O'Neill, of Milwaukee, was chosen vice-high chief ranger. J. J. Dillon, of Chicago, secretary. Henry Demer, treasurer, and Dr. J. J. O'Neill, medical examining. A board of six trustees was also elected. The next annual convention will be held at Milwaukee.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

John Lally Shoots His Wife and Then Fires a Bullet Into Himself.

CHICAGO, June 7.—John Lally, shot his wife and then sent a bullet through his own head this morning. Both died. The shooting occurred at 9:30 o'clock at the home of the old people at 436 Wabash avenue. The bullet which struck Mrs. Lally entered her right cheek and came out behind the ear. She died in a few minutes. The bullet which struck Mr. Lally entered his forehead and passed through the brain. The patrol-wagon of the West Thirtieth street station conveyed both to the county hospital. No cause is known for the affair.

The Funeral of the Late Captain William Macloon.

The funeral of the late Captain William Macdonald was held at the Congressional church at half past four o'clock yesterday afternoon. There was a very large attendance of friends of the family. Between three and four o'clock a large number visited the home for the purpose of viewing the remains. The floral tributes were many and very beautiful, among the collection being a sheaf of ripened grain. The funeral services at the church were opened with a selection by a quartette consisting of Mrs. J. W. St. John, Mrs. C. B. Conrad, Mr. W. S. Jeffris and Mr. Clarence L. Clark, with Mrs. C. L. Clark as organist, the selec-

"Jesus, Savior, pilot me
On a life's tempestuous sea."

The Rev. S. S. Wilder then read the scripture lesson, concluding he stated that it was more fitting that one who had known the deceased for many years of his life in this city should speak on this occasion, and that Dr. M. G. Hodges, of the Baptist church, would perform this duty.

Dr. Hodges, in speaking of the deceased, said:

I have often noticed standing near by one of the principal avenues in our city of the dead, a marble shaft upon which had been cut in clear outline the figure of a ship, and I have thought of it as perhaps a reminder that the owner of the ship is the one who is going mad, not the one who chose to be reminded of such a fellow who had passed away, and it was not until a few days ago that a key was furnished me for the deeper significance of the unusual device. It was the key to the door of the ship in the harbor, that the sails were reefed the anchor cast and that the captain had left and gone up to his office on shore.

to give in his report of the voyage. And this provision of the old mariner has now become a part of the modern sailor's equipment.

on the vessel left. The long-boat ship was at length reached the point, the sails were reefed, the anchor is dropped and the captain has gone up to the government office to make his final report.
 Although he has managed the craft, so faithfully he has studied the chart and noted the indications of the compass; what care he has taken of the tiding, what skill in avoiding rocks and shoals, and the danger of the passage to pass in review before the Divine Inspector. It is not of your voyage or of mine, but simply of his own that he is to make report.
 Many vessels launched at the same time, and many of them have been age and very few held out as long. Some other ships are now very near their port while some have many leagues yet to make. The important question is not how long but how well we shall sail.

It is true of our distressed and virtuous countrymen from lands which he visited during his sea-ging years. A hint is here which has its own lesson. Unless we can enrich our lives from a foreign coast we shall leave them poor and unadorned. Faith and hope, and love, patterns to endure, purity of heart and life, holiness—without which no man shall see the Lord—are all jewels gathered from a heavenly shore.

Not our best ones, but 'a good happy is the man who has his cabinet heavenward voyages lies upon a tempestuous sea, and were it not that Christ will upon the waters, who of us could hope to reach the port? We may say, however that when the perils are over and the home is gained it will be a sweet pleasure to indulge in reminiscences of God's dealings with us upon the troubled deep.

Paul loved to retrace the incidents of his stormy voyage on the Adriatic and tell how, when the ship was lost, the passengers, some on boards and some on broken pieces of the ship, escaped all safe to land.
